DOCTORED MINERAL WATERS.

Results of an Investigation Recently Made by the Academie de Medecine.

The Academie de Medecine of Paris, as the result of a close investigation of the trade in the so called "natural" mineral waters of France, has arrived at the following conclusions, which are put in the form of recommendations to the legislative bodies:

First.—That the sale of natural waters impregnated with supplementary gases should not be allowed.

Second.—Every application for permit to carry on the business of the sale of natural mineral waters should be accompanied by certificates made before the proper authorities that the waters handed out or to be handled by the applicant have not been so prepared—i. e., by supplementary carbonification—and by a further certificate on the part of the owner of the spring or of the source of the water that he has not had recourse to supplementary gasification.

Third.—All reservoirs used for mineral water should be made airtight and should be emptied at least once in every 24 hours. They should be so constructed that the water of the spring flows directly into them, and, further, all bottles and containers should be thoroughly sterilized, and all impurities of every description should be removed before they are offered for sale.

Fourth.—These regulations should be at once imposed, and all proprietors of springs of mineral waters should be forced to put them in practice within three months from date.

In France the recommendations of the academie carry almost the weight of an order, and there is little doubt but that the above regulations will soon be in force, so far as commercial waters for home consumption are concerned. If they are made to apply to all waters, those for export as well as those for domestic use, there will be a fearful falling off in exports, as it is well known that every single bottle of foreign so called "natural" carbonated waters—not merely those of France, but those of Germany, Austria and other countries—that goes abroad goes charged with supplementary gas. Not merely this, but nearly every one of them is doctored otherwise to an extent that should remove them entirely from the category of natural waters.

Some of the great mineral water companies annually export to America alone millions of bottles of water in excess of the output of their springs. By a strange ruling of our customs officials these manufactured mineral waters have been allowed for years past to come into this country as "natural waters," and thus not merely enter into competition with our domestic products, natural and manufactured, but to "hold the age" on the latter as "the product of nature's laboratory," a fetish of great power among the unthinking multitude.

DR. PARKER'S CRAWL.

He Tried to Squeeze Out of the Charge of Thievesy He Made Against Reporters.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph Parker, pastor of the City Temple of London, who, in a letter to The Times, denounced as thieves all reporters who printed sermons without consent of the preachers, has climbed down. He has not done it with good grace, says a London correspondent. In fact, his attitude now, after writing two more letters on the subject, is much less creditable than when he first gave indiscreet expression to his feelings.

In the first letter he said without asking the permission of the preachers? Is it right to make a living out of another man's brains without compensating him? The preacher earns his livelihood by his sermons," etc.

This language seems clear and unequivocal, especially when combined with Dr. Parker's answer to his own questions, declaring an unauthorized reporter a thief. Not unreasonably Dr. Parker's letter aroused a storm of protest among English believers in simple New Testament Christianity. The Non-conformist conscience made things so warm for the pastor of the City Temple that he wrote a second letter to The Times.

The substance of it was simply that he meant nothing by his first letter except a protest against the inaccuracies which are sure to appear in reports of sermons unless they are revised by the preacher. He even protested that he felt hurt that anybody should be unkind enough to impute to him any other motive.

The Times, in discussing the matter, treats this second letter with the scorn it deserves. It says: "These views of the claims of the preacher are widely divergent, unless indeed they are to be harmonized by assuming that the author's revision of the report of his sermons will be granted only for a consideration. Still we are left in considerable doubt about Dr. Parker's position. Is he concerned only about the imperfections of the report, or is he anxious about the selling value of his sermons and concerned about reporters' errors only in so far as their correction gives him a means of demanding remuneration? It may apparently become a question whether copyright vests in the man who preaches a sermon or in the congregation which pays him for preaching it. Judging from analogy, we should suppose that the buyer of a composition buys it outright, unless a different arrangement has been explicitly made beforehand. This, however, is an affair between the preacher and those who pay him to preach."

"In either case we seem to have drifted at a considerable distance from the ideals of the early Christian church, and perhaps equally far from the theories upon which all candidates for the cure of souls are still supposed to proceed. The identification of a money changer with a high priest might advantageously be left somewhat less complete and obtrusive."

Meantime the public controversy over the subject continues in a lively fashion.

AN ALARMING STATEMENT CONCERNING WOMEN.

HOW BAD HABITS ARE FORMED.

The New York Tribune says: "The habit of taking 'headache powders' is increasing to an alarming extent among a great number of women throughout the country. These powders, as their name indicates, are claimed by the manufacturers to be positive and speedy cures for any form of headache. In many cases their chief ingredient is morphia, opium, cocaine or some other equally injurious drug, having a tendency to deaden pain. The habit of taking them is easily formed, but almost impossible to shake off. Women usually begin taking them to relieve a raging headache and soon resort to them regularly to alleviate any little pain or ache they may be subjected to, and finally like the morphia or opium fiend, get into the habit of taking them regularly, insinuating that they are in pain if they happen to miss their regular dose."

In nine cases out of ten, the trouble is in the stomach and liver. Take a simple laxative and liver tonic and remove the offending matter which deranges the stomach and causes the headache. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are composed entirely of the purest, concentrated, vegetable extracts. One Pellet is a dose; sugar-coated, easily swallowed; once used, always in favor. They positively cure sick headache and remove the disposition to it.

Mr. E. VARGASON, of Oliver Lake, Lapeer Co., Mich., writes: "I do not infrequently have an attack of the headache. It usually comes on in the forenoon. At my dinner I eat my regular meal, and take one or two of Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets immediately after, and in the course of an hour my headache is gone, and I feel better every way for having taken them. I do not use any other kind of pills. Pleasant Pellets are worth more than their weight in gold for nothing else than to cure headache."

State Controller LaGrave and wife arrived from Winnemucca last evening on their way to the Capital.

Hon. Geo. W. Hinman, Assemblyman from Lander county, was among the arrivals from the east last night.

The barometer kept at a low mark last night, registering 24 17-20, a remarkably low notch for this country.

Judge Mack returned last evening from Winnemucca where he had been holding a session of the District Court.

Matters at the Court House were unusually quiet yesterday, the storm having a bad effect on the county business.

This weather is severe on those in poor health, and there is an unusual number of critical cases in Reno at present.

Miss Effie LaForge, Geo. LaForge and Justice Linn arrived on the delayed train from the east yesterday afternoon.

The remains of Vin LaForge, who was killed in the train accident Wednesday evening, will be buried at Wadsworth.

McLean's patent swing rockers at E. C. Sessions & Co.'s new store in the Improvement building. The only perfect chairs made.

Frank Golden arrived on the V. & T. last evening and expected to go west but discovered after his arrival that he had forgotten his snow shoes.

A. E. Lothrop, conductor on the Humboldt division, and wife arrived on the west-bound last evening. Mrs. Lothrop is a daughter of Justice Linn.

A special arrived from Wadsworth at about 12:30 this morning to take the relatives and friends of Vin LaForge to that town where he will be buried to-day.

The Board of School Trustees for Reno School District No. 19 met last night, allowed bills and transacted other business connected with the schools.

The town was full of Honorables last night on their way to the Capital. Carson's usual peacefulness will be considerably disturbed by Saturday and Sunday.

Hon. F. O. Gorman, member of the Assembly from Eureka county, and son arrived yesterday afternoon on their way to Carson. They will spend a day or two here.

About five feet of snow fell at Summit this week. The storm of Wednesday night was one of the heaviest of the season. Here the snow fall was about five inches.

Wm. A. Smith of San Francisco, agent for the Computing Scale Company of Dayton, Ohio, was in town yesterday. His scale registers the weight and at the same time the amount in dollars and cents of the purchase. It is a great convenience in a retail store.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE.

What a Virginia City Lady Says on the subject.

The following article was sent to the Reno Gazette for publication and refused a place in its columns presumably because it contains too much about silver and Republicanism:

WOMAN SUFFRAGE

VIRGINIA CITY, Jan. 13, 1895.

Mr. Wren is right in saying that the remonetization of silver is paramount to all other questions.

I would like to say to Mr. Wren if the women of Nevada were permitted to vote they would not do as the women of Colorado did at the last election, and cast their votes for the gold Republicans for all know that through their legislation silver was demonetized and that it has clogged the wheels of all the industries of the United States, and for the last twenty years we have been pleading with that party to restore silver to its place beside gold at the ratio of 16 to 1.

Mr. Wren you will find the women of Nevada true to our industries. I have heard a great number express their surprise that every man did not vote the silver ticket. They ought to have thrown aside all party prejudice and showed a solid front for remonetization of silver.

As to Mr. Allen's low pool of politics, who has made that political pool low? Certainly not the women. I think if women were permitted they would help to purify the low pool and lift it up and let light of day shine in and it would soon become so pure that every broad minded and intelligent man would be proud of the political economy of our nation.

We receive reports from our high school and college graduates that the average is 16 girls to 2 boys. If this average is kept up, inside of twenty years women will be compelled to take the reins of government in their hands and if they could not improve on the last thirty years, then our Republic would be in danger of going to pieces.

I am sure that every woman, and especially every mother, feels sad when she looks around and sees how indifferent the boys and young men of to-day are in acquiring an education, the idea of the young men being to see how soon they can get something for nothing.

This is an age of gambling, not only in Nevada, but in the finance of our nation, and we hope the press will show it up in its true light.

Much has been said about woman's sphere. To be womanly is to be weak, gentle and very forbearing; to love children and honor men; to yield for the sake of peace, and to make home happy by making one honest dollar do the work of two; to always be cheerful, pleasant, pious and have words of consolation for the sorrowing; visit the poor with charitable intent; nurse the sick and always have her home in order; meals ready on time (provided she has a home) and she is expected to aid by every means in her power to the world's comfort; in fact to meet in full the picture of

"A creature not too bright and good
For human nature's daily food."

We are proud of this part of our mission, for there is a fullness of sweet pleasure in realizing that the Creator allotted to woman this beneficiary work in his grand economy. It seems the dear men thought there was too much honor in this for the women to have alone and they determined to help in the great work by starting the beneficiary lodges, thereby taking a part of her work from her in caring for the sick.

As woman has proved her capability in filling all positions that she has entered, what sound logic can be brought to prove that she can not be trusted with the ballot.

Some say she is fickle and given to love of dress, and that a beautiful hat or an elegant dress will capture her vote. In this will, she not average with the dear men?

We admit that woman has never been taught self reliance, only when necessity has sent her out as a breadwinner for herself and perhaps some dear ones, and when we turn to history and read of the dark ages when woman was pushed and trodden down and enslaved, and through all this her great endurance, patient forbearance and her keen thirst for knowledge, convinced man of her cruelty, and when the Star of Bethlehem with illuminating rays shown out upon her, carrying its purifying influence, it has forced man to open the doors of schools and colleges to his sisters, and right royally she has stepped in and feasted her starved intellect at the banquet of knowledge.

We fully realize that we are not American citizens. We ask our brothers to finish the good and just work that they have begun by granting women the franchise.

It cannot work any hardships upon either sex, the women will do as they always have been compelled to do, that is, stand aside and let the dear men have all the lucrative offices.

I think the women ought to be content with the privilege of helping to select good men for all the responsible positions and then having our votes count in their favor.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THE POPULIST PLATFORM

Allen and George Exchange Words on the Subject.

In the United States Senate Allen took occasion to defend the Populist party against many charges made in and out of Congress that it was a party of vagaries. It led to a very full discussion of all the Populist doctrines and a comparison of them with the doctrines of other parties.

Allen spoke of the fact that Gorman and Allison were now announcing to the country their readiness to get together on a plan for raising revenue, although the parties of these two leaders have been irreconcilably separated on the revenue question for twenty-five years. He said a considerable element on the Democratic side of the Senate were as essentially protectionists as the Senators on the other side.

It was merely a difference of the degree of protection. This common feeling was the reason the Senate had witnessed the remarkable spectacle of Democrats and Republicans falling on each other's necks and indulging in a love-feast. Allen yielded for the submission of a message from the President concerning the arrest of two Japanese students by China while they were under the protection of the United States.

Resuming, Allen urged that the two old parties had served their periods of usefulness, and that the Populist party, representing the masses, was the party of the future. It has cast 1,000,000 votes in 1892 and 2,000,000 in 1894, showing the phenomenal growth of 100 per cent. It had no "vagaries," as Senators had asserted, unless it was the Sub-Treasury scheme, and this was not believed in by the great majority of Populists. Allen read the Populist platform adopted at Omaha, and in commenting on it stated that the Populists believed in the election of United States Senators by the people.

"That doctrine," interrupted George, "was embodied in a resolution by a Democratic House of Representatives before the Populists were thought of. It will be found that whatever is good in the Populist platform was taken from Democratic principles."

"Another Populist accession from the Democratic ranks," said Allen.

"No, not an accession," declared George. "The Populists are following the Democrats; no Democrats are following the Populists. Give me your national platform and I will point out the planks taken from the Democracy."

George took the Populist platform and awaited an opportunity to comment on it.

A sharp controversy arose when George secured recognition to point out that the platform submitted by Allen was not the authorized platform of the Populist party; that it was "made up out of the Senators' heads," and that it omitted the Sub-Treasury scheme and Government ownership of railroads.

Allen, however, insisted that he had not claimed the paper submitted was the Populist platform.

George commented sharply on the action of a Senator in giving the authority of his name to a platform purporting to embody Populist doctrine, and yet carefully and designedly omitting Government ownership of railroads and other doctrines adopted by the Populist National Convention.

There was a spirited exchange between the Senators, as George insisted on holding up the Senator to the fact that he had undertaken to issue his own Populist platform, and as Allen charged George with "hedging and dodging," the galleries and the few Senators present listened with evident amusement.

Continuing his speech, Allen defended the Populist party against the charge of socialism and anarchy.

Funeral Postponed.

The funeral of the late Mrs. W. W. Morton, which was announced to take place from the Baptist Church yesterday, has been postponed until 2 o'clock this afternoon at the same place. Rev. Mr. Henry, formerly of Wadsworth, was on the way here from Oakland to conduct the funeral services. The train on which he was a passenger was delayed by the snow night before last, hence the postponement. Friends and acquaintances are invited to attend the services at the Baptist Church.

Call and Settle.

All persons knowing themselves to be indebted to Henry Ruhe are hereby notified to call at the office of Knox & Jones, Powning building, Reno, Nevada, and settle their accounts by February 15th, 1895. After said date collection will be enforced.

BREVITIES.

Mr. Gill and wife arrived from Truckee yesterday afternoon, also Mrs. Vin LaForge. They remained over here and will continue on to Wadsworth to-day.

The funeral of John Swindels, under the auspices of Amity Lodge K. of P., took place yesterday and was largely attended by the Knights considering the heavy storm.

A notice of a shareholders annual meeting of the Reno Real Estate and Investment Company is published in another column. It is of interest to those having stock in the company.

The Girl's University Cadet Corps will leave for Carson on the V. & T. local this afternoon and will give an exhibition in that city this evening, and in Virginia City to-morrow evening.

Vin LaForge was not a member of the Knights of Pythias as was reported yesterday. There was some mistake in the information wired to Chancellor Commander Ziegler of Amity Lodge.

The University Girls' Cadet Corps gave a splendid entertainment at the Opera House yesterday afternoon. The theater was crowded and the audience was highly pleased with the program rendered.

Justice Bonfield of the Supreme Court arrived from Winnemucca last evening. He says Senator Wise, though feeling poorly, intends to go to Carson to be present when the Legislature convenes.

A cyclone demolished the residence of A. J. Hughes at San Miguel, California, and overturned the Parkville stage. It lifted an out-house in the air and dropped it a hundred yards from where it stood.

Senator Sommerfield received a telegram from Senator Wise of Humboldt last evening stating that he expected to start for Carson Saturday. The report that he was seriously ill is doubtless a mistake.

Judge Mack in the case of Francis vs. the Board of Commissioners of Humboldt county decided that the latter exceeded its authority in revoking the certificate of election issued to Francis. The case will go before the Legislature.

A decided improvement was noticeable in the case of D. C. Wheeler yesterday. Mr. Boalt was also reported somewhat better, and Mr. C. C. Cusworth was much better yesterday and partook of some nourishment, but she was not so well last evening.

It appears that the Publishing Company publishes only such letters on woman suffrage as are not offensive to goldbugs. That which appears in the Journal this morning on the suffrage question was sent it by an estimable lady of Virginia City, but it was too "silly" to suit the stockholders.

F. L. Gould will leave this morning for Lincoln county and the southern part of the State. He goes there on a survey contract, and as soon as his work is completed he will give some attention to prospecting. His trip will take in a large portion of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, a portion of Arizona and Southern Utah. His outfit left two or three days ago. Fred will try and send some interesting items concerning his trip to the Journal.

The Trains.

Yesterday morning's passenger was reported blocked at Blue Canyon.

Passenger train No. 2 arrived from the east nearly on time yesterday afternoon and went on to Truckee.

Last night's west-bound arrived here twenty minutes late and was sidetracked for the night.

The V. & T. and N-C-O. arrived on time.

The swing returned from Truckee with an engine, flanger and caboose, followed closely by a push plow which was sent back to Truckee ahead of the afternoon passenger. The storm was reported unusually heavy on the mountains and a hard fight is being made to keep the road open, but the indications point strongly towards a blockade.

BIG POKER STORIES.
THEIR TEXT THE REMARKABLE VARIETIES OF LUCK.

Senator Wolcott's Lucky Draw In the "Brace" Game - The Old Red Ear Story Retold in Condensed Form - The Personal Confession of One of "The Company."

"I suppose Senator Wolcott is one of the coolest men living when engaged in a game of chance," said Albert Watson of Denver. "Like most men whose early manhood has been spent on the frontier, he learned the value of a poker hand and the best way to keep cases as soon as he learned law, and he was known as a 'limp' player all over Colorado before his fame as a lawyer had spread outside of Denver. When playing faro, he always did and does yet bet as much on the turn of a card as the dealer will allow him to, and when he sits in a poker game the other people want to keep their eyes wide open and play their cards mightily close up to their chests."

"Wolcott once found himself in a game of poker where three of the other players were playing a sure game. They were professionals and were after a big bundle of money that he had in his possession as well as looking for that which the fifth player, a mining operator named Durkin, was known to have. Wolcott knew in 20 minutes after the first hand was dealt that the intention was to rob him and wearied his wits trying to find a way out of the game without making trouble, but he couldn't discover a means to save him. At last he was dealt a pat flush of diamonds made up of the 5, 7, 8, 9 and jack. He skinned those cards over and did a mighty piece of thinking. He felt in his bones that a flush would be no account in the world when it came to a show-down, but he clipped in and staid to draw cards. To his surprise, he wasn't raised before the draw."

"He looked over his bright red diamonds and concluded to draw a card, in order, if possible, to strengthen the sequence. He pondered a long time between discarding the 6 spot or the picture, and at last tossed away the jack and called for a card. The dealer looked surprised at his wanting any, but gave him the card. Wolcott picked it up and found he had got the 6 spot of diamonds. He never turned a hair. The betting began, and he nursed his sequence of diamonds and just staid along, letting the other fellows do the raising. At last it got down to Wolcott and one of the professionals. Finally there was a call, and the other man showed four queens. Wolcott laid down the 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and jack of diamonds and swept in the pot. The game stopped right there. Luck that was the greatest piece of luck that any man ever had in a poker game."

When Mr. Watson had concluded his interesting recital and the wonderful draw had been expatiated upon, one of his listeners remarked that he reckoned it was his deal. "This is a story of luck, too," he remarked, "but of a different character from that experienced by Senator Wolcott. A friend of mine who lives out in Mary, and was playing in a little poker game not long ago. The paraphernalia of the game was primitive, consisting of a single well-thumbed deck of standard cards, with a pile of corn for chips. My friend was followed by a regular troupe of bull heads, and his corn was down to a very few grains. He agitated his mind for a minute or two and then suddenly announced that he had forgotten to give his horse water and would have to do it. He went out of the house, and being familiar with the premises made his way to the corral, and putting in his hand in the dark got an ear of corn and put it in his pocket. Then he went to the stable, after milking a big cow at the pump to let the fellow inside believe he was not tampering his animal, and returned in a few minutes to the house. He sat down and proceeded to pull out the 'chips' he had placed in his pocket when he left, and which he had substantially altered to imitation. You can imagine his confusion when he found that he drew forth his original dozen with 'Aces' with twice that many red. He had been engaged to find in the dark the only red ear in the corral."

"I'll make a personal confession after this," said Henry Miller when the laugh subsided. "Some years ago I was made a fool of and then to indulge in the 'brace' game, and there was a friend of mine near me, over in Georgia town, who had been playing in the same sort of game sort that visited him at intervals coincident with my own. Consequently we usually hunted the animal together. One night we came over this side of the creek together and proceeded to a place on Ninth street, where a public game, with table stakes, was pretty popular. Along about 11 o'clock we both got broke and concluded to go home. The night had grown stormy, and it was sleeting like sin when we left the 'club,' as it was called. A search revealed that we had but one card ticket between us. The bottle car, without a conductor, were then used on the Metropolitan line, and we conceived the highly original idea of splitting that ticket in half and dropping the two pieces in the box. We boarded the last car over and carried out our scheme. You may knock me down if both pieces didn't fall in the box with side up. The driver glanced at them and then started to open the door, but we both made a break and got off the car. I made up my mind there that my luck was too utterly bad for a poker player, and walking home through that blizzard I determined to try no more poker, and I haven't touched a card in a many years since." - Washington Star

The race between the steamers Delano from New Orleans and Lexington from Galveston for the honor of being the first cotton ship to enter the Manchester ship canal almost ended in disaster. The Lexington, a vessel of the Manchester line, arrived in the harbor a few hours later, made a dash for the canal entrance, taking the risk of the unfavorable state of the tide. This made the Lexington's captain angry, and he unwisely followed, with the result that he was stranded on a mud bank and had to wait for several hours for a turn in the tide, the Delano, of course, easily winning the race. - Manchester Guardian
